

Kiwanis Club provides for our children

As reported in Friday's Outlook, the Alexander City Kiwanis Club has finally met its goal of donating $50,000 to the Alexander City Schools Education Foundation.

Donations have been made in installments for the past five years.

"The Kiwanis motto is 'serve the children of the world,'" said Kiwanis president Scott Blake. "With that being our motto, why not give to our local children in Alexander City?"

We couldn't agree more.

We commend the Kiwanis Club on their generous donation to the schools.

ACSEF is integral in providing financial support to enhance the school system, especially with technology.

Thanks to ACSEF's efforts, all schools have turned approximately 158 core academic classrooms into 21st Century Classrooms, fit with individual personal computers and Promethean Boards in various grades.

As stated on the Alexander City Schools' website, "This funding allows our system to add components not provided in the budget, thereby allowing our students to compete with students from other top systems in the state."

Just in the past few weeks, Kiwanis has also donated funds to other worthy causes, such as the Salvation Army and Sav-A-Life, as well as donating bottles of water to the city schools.

"S.O.S. for H₂O" program, which provides water bottles for the first few weeks of school on hot afternoons to bus riders.

We appreciate the Kiwanis Club's generosity toward making our community a better place.
